Govt must amend laws on traffic summonses, says Rais

By HAH FOONG LIAN and NICK LEONG

SELANG: The police will have to postpone action against traffic offenders whose summonses could not be served on them, until certain provisions of the law are amended.

They will also have to put on hold action against those whose summonses are deemed to have been served on them.

Minister in the Prime Minister's Department Datuk Seri Dr Rais Yatim said the authorities had to be very careful with summonses that could not be served and those deemed to have been served.

Malaysians, he said, were becoming more litigious and he did not want any department to be put in "a precarious position."

"I believe the authorities will have to put on hold some of the action, if procedures (in Ops Warta II)
